

ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY

Spline Gauges recognises that clear, positive and visible leadership is core to effective management and is essential in maintaining a positive Environmental culture throughout the organisation. As such Spline Gauges is committed to:

Legal and Other Requirements

Complying with all relevant regulations and requirements, operating in accordance with both government and industry codes of practise and guidance appropriate to our activities.

Management of Risk

Assessing and managing the risks associated with our activities to ensure a high level of protection for our employees, contractors, customers, the public and the Environment.

Policies and Documentation

Document polices and ISO 14001:2015 Environmental Management System to enable Spline Gauges to control our environmental risks and improve our Environmental performance.

Provision of Information

Providing relevant Environmental information to contractors, other site visitors, customer, statutory bodies and the public.

Training

Providing all employees with information, instruction and training aimed at ensuring that they understand their responsibilities and their contribution towards the achievement of the Environmental objectives.

Prevention of Pollution

Preventing pollution of air, land, and water through careful planning of operations, provision of suitable facilities and responsible waste management. Ensuring that the products, processes and equipment used have minimal impact on the Environment.

Emergency Response

Establishing and maintain appropriate emergency response system, to limit impacts on the environment.

Continual Improvement

Achieving continual improvement in Environmental performance.

Objectives and Targets

Setting targets and objectives within the company's procedures to control Environmental impact.

Communication

Communicating with our interested parties with regards to policy, procedures, objectives in relation to environmental requirements and the ISO 14001:2015 Environmental Management System.
